Stepping stones: brief personal impressions of aid programmes for education reforms

Liam Owens

31st December 2014
Stepping Stones

Part I

Chapter I
- Introduction
- A background briefing
- The beginnings of overseas travel and then time spent in Germany and in pre-revolution Iran

Chapter II
- Back home working for the Irish State Organisation FÁS and consultancies in Greece, Belize (C.A.) and Jordan

Part II

Chapter III
- My personal impressions of international donor agencies I worked for and then missions to some of the ASEAN countries of South East Asia

Chapter IV
- Pakistan with the UN; challenge, self-analysis and survival

Chapter V
- Experiences of the Middle East in pre-revolution Egypt and Syria

Chapter VI
- Impressions of Albania and two former Russian ‘stans’ (Azerbaijan and Tajikistan)

Chapter VII
- High up in the Kingdom of Nepal

Chapter IX
- Far Eastern sketches of post-conflict Cambodia and Vietnam

Chapter X
- Out of Africa….and time spent in Lesotho, Swaziland, South Africa, Zambia, Tanzania, Uganda and Zimbabwe
- ‘Down in the Caribbean – it’s not a dream you’re seeing’ - and missions in the sun to Jamaica, Barbados, Trinidad, St Lucia, Guyana, St Vincent and the Grenadines and Suriname

Chapter XI
- Evaluations of ILO/IPEC projects aimed at elimination of the worst forms of child labour in Cambodia, Sri Lanka and Egypt.

Chapter XII
- A short excursion to Papua New Guinea with a sense of the Stone Age: and missions to pre-revolution Libya and Yemen.

Chapter XIII
- Bangladesh and a Plain Tale from the Chittagong Hill Tracts

Chapter XIV
- Post-conflict Eritrea – a land of pride and indeed some prejudice

Part III

Epilogue

Annexes

The enthusiastic account of a first trip I made to Cairo to present a paper at the First Egyptian Symposium on Housing and Reconstruction in December 1976