Programme note

This work for a large choir is inspired by the poem 'Canal Bank Walk' by Patrick Kavanagh. The subtitles are tributes to the triune goddesses, Banba, Fódhla, and Éiru, who Pagans worshipped in Ancient Ireland as the deities behind the lunar phases. The music seeks to portray the light of the moon in its interaction with features mentioned in the poem.

At the start and the end the performers are provided pitch boxes. These should be sung phased out of synchronicity, each phrase ideally taking the time of one full breath. The 'l' of 'world' is intended to be sounded as part of the continuity of the evolution of the word through its' lingual and dental fricatives, and into the hummed 'dmm' at the end, which should be synchronised. This applies to similar instances through the boxed-score sections.

Singers should sing boxed phrases with an individual tempo, though with echo references to their neighbours' rhythmic choices.

The work may be performed in three separate parts, or in any combination of parts.

*O Unworn World
Enrapture me,
Enrapture me in a web
of fabulous grass
and eternal voices
by a beech.
Give me ad lib.
to pray unselfconsciously
with overflowing speech;
For this soul needs to be honoured
with a new dress woven
of Green and Blue things,
and arguments
that cannot be proven.*
